DAVIDSON TIES THE TIGERS

In a clean, hard-fought game the Tigers and the Presbyterians battled to a tie, and thus left the question of supremacy still unsettled. . . Clemson was expected to win, and it looked as though they would do so during the first quarter, but, after that, they played almost wholly a defensive game, and towards the latter part of the game were outplayed by their North Carolina rivals. Davidson as the result of a longer training season, was in better condition than were the Tigers, and though outweighed slightly they put up a very clean, hard, fast game. The interference of the Davidson team was great, and in addition to this their back-field showed great drive, especially Walker and Laird. There was little to choose between the lines of the two teams. Harris had a rather wide margin on Walker in punting, and it is probably due to him that Davidson didn't score in the last quarter.

Major's loss was felt greatly by the Clemson backfield, and it can hardly be doubted that, if he had been in the game, the Tigers would have won. Harris, McMillan, Littlejohn, and Harmon played the best game for Clemson, while C. Walker, Laird, Geisler, and White starred for Davidson.

First Quarter.

Littlejohn kicks off 30 yards to Geisler who fumbles. Clemson's ball. Magill makes 5 yards; McConnell, no gain; McMillan, no gain; Harris fails at field goal. Davidson's ball on their twenty yard line. Walker makes 2 yards; Walker makes 7; Walker makes first down. Geisler makes 2; Harmon throws Walker for a 5 yard loss. Black loses 2 yards; Walker kicks 40 yards to McMillan who is downed in his tracks. Magill, no gain; Harris kicks 25 yards to Walker. On the first play Davidson fumbles, and Adams recovers and runs 60 yards for a touchdown. Littlejohn misses an easy goal. Score. Clemson 6, Davidson 0.

Littlejohn kicks off 40 yards to Laird, who returns ball to Davidson's 30 yard line. Black loses 2; Walker, no gain; Geisler 4 thru center; Walker kicks 35 yards to McMillan who is downed in his tracks. Harris makes 3 yards; Adams, no gain; Davidson penalized 5 yards off side. McConnell makes 1 yard; Davidson offside, penalized 5 yards. First down for Clemson. Harris no gain; Magill makes 4 on a tackle over tackle. Quarter up. Score. Clemson 6. Davidson 0.

Second Quarter.

Ball in middle of field. Littlejohn makes 2 yards. Clemson penalized 5 yards for off-side. Harris kicks 50 yards and Harris downs Geisler in his tracks. Glack fails to gain.

Clemson penalized 5 yards for off-side. Lawson substituted for Geisler, and losses 1 yard. Laird makes 5, fumbles and recovers. First down. Laird, no gain; Black, no gain. Walker kicks 25 yards to McMillan who returns 15. Ball in middle of field. Harris makes 2 yards; Littlejohn, no gain; Adams makes 2; Davidson penalized 5 yards for off-side. McMillan goes around right end for 15 yards, and first down.

Harris, no gain; Harris losses about 8 yards, and then is thrown for a 5 yard loss. Harris tries for field goal but fails. Davidson's ball on their 20 yard line. Davidson tries

NEW ATHLETIC FIELD DEDICATED

As the clock struck three Saturday afternoon, some rather musical noises emanated from the midst of quite a throng in front of the main building, and immediately this joyous throng became hilarious and began to string out in the direction of the new athletic field. Of course, this column of paraders was headed by the band which was followed in order by the speakers, athletic council, alumni, faculty, and student body. Even the visitors looked as if they wished to join the procession.

Upon entering Riggs field, the body took a "C" formation and poured forth a thrilling volume of patriotic Tiger yells and songs.

Prof. J. W. Gantt, President of the Athletic Association, introduced Dr. Riggs as "the man who has done more for the athletics at Clemson and probably more for Southern athletics than any other man."

In presenting the field to the corps of cadets, Dr. Riggs said in part; "This magnificent field is a token of recognition by the Trustees of Clemson College of the importance of military and athletic training for the cadets. It is to be a place for the teaching of the principles of team work and fair play.

"On the crest of the hill stands the main Building which represents the intellectual side of life. In the immediate fore-ground we see the Textile Building. Here the brain and hand are trained to work together. Just to our left is the magnificent new Y. M. C. A. Building, standing for the development of spirit, mind, and body. In the immediate vicinity back of us are the churches, which are agents in the influencing of our spiritual natures. This large and beautiful athletic field is to stand for the development of the physical man, and, whether in real work or in play it is hoped that this field will be used as an agency in the developing of high and honorable men.

"Whether victorious or defeated, may the men of this field always be gentlemen of the highest type.

"In behalf of the Trustees, I wish to present this field to the corps of cadets."

Amid roaring applause, cheering yells, and yelling cheers, Prof. Gantt arose to introduce Mr. H. C. Tillman, '03, President of the Clemson Alumni Association. In introducing Mr. Tillman, Prof. Gantt said that Mr. Tillman was one of the most scientific ends on a football team that Clemson or any other institution had ever produced, and that if there was anything that he would like to will the students of Clemson, it was the undying "spirit" of this man.

Mr. Tillman spoke as follows: "Students who have been and are to be, no matter how much we love other things, we love our athletic field best.

Therefore, this field should be named for him who has done most for our athletics. Dr. Riggs is not only the father of athletics at Clemson but has coached our teams.

"It is not alone for gratitude, but for a sense of love and esteem that we name this field. May it bring victory to the Tigers' lair, and may it be represented by the honor and spirit Dr. Riggs has always shown.

"In the name of all students and lovers of Clemson, I christen this Field Riggs Field."

A few minutes later, Dr. Riggs made the initial kick-off in the first football game to be played on the

BUSINESS MAN LECTURED HERE

The Y. M. C. A. was fortunate indeed to have Mr. T. O. Lawton, of Greenville, president of the South-eastern Life Insurance Company, deliver an address Sunday night on "The Value of Decision." The speaker held the attention of the audience for about thirty minutes. Early in his speech, Mr. Lawton referred to the twenty-second Psalm as one that will bring comfort in many homes and hearts.

Mr. Lawton spoke of the decisions umpires must make when the tie game for the championship is being played, and the value to one team or the other received by the umpires' decisions. "I made the decision for Christ when only nine years of age, and I am proud of it today; because back at home is my blind boy, and I am proud to know that no act on my part caused his blindness. I could not be happy if my sins were visited upon my son! The sins of the father and mother are visited on the fourth and fifth generations."

He spoke of the wild oats that are sown by the young man who leads a fast life and of the great harvest that will some day be reaped. A young man often marries a pure, sweet young lady, and upon her the burdens of his sins are cast.

The speaker told of a college student who, tho he thought his decision had been made, made his decision for life while locked in his closet. This young man worked his way thru college, was put on the volunteer waiting list, but would not wait. "This man is now doing good work in China," said Mr. Lawton. "The hardest work to do is personal work. What about that room-mate of yours? What are you doing to help him?"

Mr. Lawton urged that we make a decision now. The manly fellow will not stay on the fence or vote on both sides; he must decide. "You must fight the devil in your secret closet with the doors closed behind you." Mr. Lawton said we must quit our selfish-selves. College spirit will not go alone. We must have team work. So make the decision now. "The decision you make will fix your soul's salvation," said the speaker in his closing remarks.

"Oh, mother, sobbed the young wife, "John doesn't trust me!" "Why, my child, what has he done?"

"Well, you know, I cooked my first dinner for him today, and he invited a friend to dine with him." The sobs broke afresh. "And oh, mother, the man was a doctor!"

new field. While on the field he wore a handsome new orange and blue sweater which he had just received from Auburn, his alma mater, and which was sent by the athletic authorities of that institution.

Just before the exercises, the Clemson Athletic Association officials received a telegram from the Auburn Alumni Association that read as follows:

"In naming your new athletic fields in honor of your distinguished president, Clemson is honoring a man who has done more than any other for the development of college athletics in the south. We congratulate you on the completion of your field, and hope that Auburn and Clemson will continue to meet alternately on Riggs and Drake fields and may the best team always win."

THALIAN CLUB GIVES INFORMAL

One of the most enjoyable social events of the season was an informal dance given by the Thalian Club last Saturday night in the College Gymnasium. This dance was planned in honor of the Davidson Football team.

The couples began to arrive about eight-thirty. Promptly at nine o'clock cards were given out, and programs for the evening arranged. Dancing was thoroughly enjoyed until eleven forty-five when the happy couples were reminded by the strains of "Home, Sweet Home" that it was time to turn their backs on the dear old Gymnasium, and go to their homes.

Those present were as follows:

Miss Bonneau of Clemson with Cadet W. F. Wright.

Miss Brown of Anderson with Cadet R. B. Waters.

Miss Neila Sloan of Clemson with Mr. Foy.

Miss Arthur of Union with Cadet H. C. Wannamaker.

Miss Harriett Lewis of Clemson with Mr. W. D. Arthur.

Miss Hutchinson of Clemson with Mr. Birch.

Miss Mabel Simpson of Spartanburg with Cadet Tom Spratt.

Miss Elizabeth Sloan of Charleston with Cadet W. W. Mailory.

Miss Freeman of Claremont, N. H., with Cadet Pride.

Miss Sherard of Williamston with Mr. W. C. Green.

Miss Faulkner of Abbeville with Cadet T. E. Boliver.

Miss Bradley of Abbeville with Cadet Garrett.

Miss Sara Furman of Clemson with Cadet J. J. Sitton.

Miss Katharyn Furman of Clemson with Cadet J. M. Jackson.

Miss Faulconer of Clemson with Cadet H. S. McKeown.

Chaperones: Mrs. Long, Mrs. Harper, Mrs. Sloan, Dr. and Mrs. Brackett, Mr. and Mrs. Keys, Mr. and Mrs. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Stanford, Mr. and Mrs. Routten, Mrs. Rudd, Mr. and Mrs. Gantt, Mr. and Mrs. Rittenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Shiver.

It was the pleasure of the Club to have the following guests: Mrs. Bradley of Abbeville; Mrs. Torrence, of Charleston; Misses Nena Martin and Margaret Sadler; Messrs. Tom Poe, Melvin Westervelt, Hall, Gary Thompson, all of Greenville, T. S. Evans of Spartanburg, E. D. Mays and A. P. Fant, of Jacksonville, Fla., Sam Jones of Anderson.

Stags: Messrs. Simmons, King, Rouse, Hofmann, Barnett, Hamilton, Randale, Glover, Cadets W. B. Townsend, H. E. Shiver, J. P. Har-rall, A. A. Barron, R. S. Blake, W. V. Byers, S. R. Finley, J. E. EDITORIAL.

Local football fans profess to see something prophetic and significant in the fact that the Red Sox beat the Tigers.—Columbia State.

Game Cocks always crow before day, but, after the light dawns upon them, you'll invariably find them scratching for worms.

Something tells us that there will be a large and flourishing student parade in the old town on Thursday night of Fair week, and it won't be a Tiger parade either.—The State.

According to custom, the next Gamecock parade is due about 1922. However, since it seems impossible for the corps of Tigers to be present, we are exceedingly glad to know that some large and flourishing body is to parade for us. We wish the body well, and kindly tender them the coveted honor.

When we old boys came back to college in September, we thought it strange that the weather was so warm and beautiful, whereas it almost invariably rains upon our return. We were again surprised to be enjoying even more pleasant days when the "rats" came in. But time never fails to tell the tale. Last Thursday, the one-year men were welcomed on the first disagreeable day of fall. The sudden drop in temperature and the slow, melancholy-inviting rain contributed considerably toward giving them a taste of college life in its early stages.

AN EXTRACT FROM MINUTES OF ALLUMNI ASSOCIATION

Upon motion from the floor it was requested that a formal invitation be issued to the Senior Class to meet with the Alumni Association at their next annual meeting.

The following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That it is the sense of the Clemson College Alumni Association that the sum of $10.00, more or less, be collected from each student upon matriculation at the opening of the session, this fee to be known as an Activity fee and will entitle a student to admission to the athletic games, to membership in the Y. M. C. A., to a copy of the annual, etc.

Resolved, further, that a committee of three present this resolution to the Board of Trustees through the President of the College respectfully requesting their consideration, in view of the fact that this plan has been in successful operation at other institutions. The following committee was appointed: W. Allen, '10, T. G. Robertson, '08 and C. W. McSwain, '02.

CLEMSON COLLEGE BAND.

Professor Routten, director of the College band, began working for new material for his band soon after the opening of school. The old members of the band began circulating among the new students as soon as they arrived here hunting out those which were musically inclined, and they met with fairly good success. When a new man desires to enter the band, he is asked to report to the band room and there he is given a try-out, very much on the same principle as the try-out given an athlete. This try-out is to determine what he fits and what fits him. If he shows up well and gives evidence of having a good future before him he is permanently added to the band. At present there are fourteen men trying for positions on the band, and there are thirty-five members of the band in all.

In about three weeks the band proposes to give a public concert in the chapel, and then one each month during this session. They will furnish music at Pendleton during the two days of the Centennial of the Pendleton Farmer's Society. The managers of the band have arranged for a nice trip for sometime in the near future. The first concert will be given in Greenville at the auditorium of the Greenville Woman's College; the next, in Spartanburg at Converse; then they go on to Rock Hill and give a concert in the Winthrop auditorium, then on to Columbia to the University of South Carolina, then to Coker College, and then they play for the civic league of Georgetown, and on back home by Greenwood.

Besides this trip several shorter trips will be made on Saturday nights to the nearby towns.

Sixty men are wanted for this band and if you know anything about music you owe it to yourself and to your college to ally yourself with the band, for it is a certain fact that a good band is greatly beneficial to any college; therefore if you can play any instrument you should help our band to be a success. On the other hand if you succeed in becoming a member you are assured of a good trip. Remember the man who has talents going to waste is a robber both to himself and to his fellowman. If you desire a try-out see Prof. Routten or any of the old members of the band.

PERSONALS.

Miss Sallie Johnstone of Newberry, S. C., is expected here this week to visit her relatives, Prof. and Mrs. Johnstone.

Mrs. C. M. Furman has returned from a delightful trip to the mountains.

Mrs. Steinmetz who has been visiting Mrs. Long has returned to her home in Washington. Owing to slight illness during the last few days of her visit, she was unable to return some of her calls.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Watkins are spending a few days in the mountains of North Carolina.

Miss Mary Steadman has gone to Savannah to attend the Savannah High School.

Miss Daisy Porcher has been visiting her sister, Miss Anne Porcher.

Miss Mary Duncan who has been visiting Mrs. Shields has gone to Salem, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis who have been visiting Mr. J. P. Lewis, have returned to their home in Starksville, Miss.

Mrs. J. Q. Lewis has returned from a delightful trip to New York and other northern points.

Mr. E. Conradi who has been visiting his brother, Prof. A. F. Conradi, has returned to Tallahassee, Fla., where he is President of the Woman's College.

Prof. Wells can not take a dare. Instead, he rushes into society, where a certain other man had been offered $2.50 to go. For explanation see Dr. Feeley.

Miss Sara Furman has returned from a visit to friends in Camden.

Miss Sue Hook, of Augusta, Ga., is spending a few weeks with her sister, Miss Julia Hook.

Mr. Hope Sadler of Greenville, spent Saturday night here with relatives.

Misses Claudine Wannamaker and May Riggs, and Mr. Moore are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Riggs. Miss Salley of Orangeburg, and Mr. Arthur Bell of Charleston, who were visiting them last week have returned to their respective homes.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fitzpatrick have returned from a visit to the latter's father, Mr. J. B. Matthews, Louisville, Ky. Mr. Matthews has been critically ill for several weeks, but we are glad to know that he is improving.

Mrs. W. W. Bradley, her two daughters, and Miss Faulkner, all of Abbeville, are visiting Prof. and Mrs. M. E. Bradley.

REVIVAL CLOSES.

The revival services, conducted by Rev. E. K. Harden, closed Thursday night. The minister fought without wavering for us to the finish. His sermon of Monday night on which I have very few notes, was taken from Exodus 14:13.

"Sin becomes a galling bondage to man, and binds him into slavery. He becomes a slave to habits, and habit becomes the master. The sinful man says he will break from the wicked life some day, but he often waits 'till too late. Sin ties man too securely for him to realize that he is a slave. This man often makes fun of the Christian. He thinks he is the ideal man of the world, but I tell you the free and courageous man is the one who stands for right under all circumstances. It is not an easy thing for a man to be a Christian with the many temptations coming before him every day. The way of the transgressor is hard, this is a true saying. Is there one here tonight who is satisfied with a life of bondage? It is to this man that I plead for him to turn from his sin, and take up the banner of God." These were the striking words in the sermon of Tuesday night.

The text for the sermon of Wednesday night was taken from David 6:12. The speaker said:

"Now is the testing time for Clemson cadets. The mothered boy leaves home to stand the great test he soon meets in college. Which path is he to take? He must answer this question, but the path he does pursue will tell for his future. It is said that when in Rome one must do as Rome does, but I say do as Rome should do. Daniel came from a Godly home to prove true to his parents. Would we be ashamed for our mothers, God bless them, to see us tonight? Think this over, young men. Daniel began early and started right, tho he was compelled to have enemies in order to live a Godly life. Because he would not bow down to the king's God, Daniel was cast into the lion's den, but was delivered from them by our God. Vices call us, young men, not to decide for God; but God is calling now and will call until we accept him."

At the closing services Thursday night, just before the sermon, Rev. W. H. Mills, of the Presbyterian Church, spoke very favorably of the good work Mr. Harden had done with us, and wished the visitor God's speed in his future work. Mr. Harden said he was pleased to have an opportunity to preach to us. He had rather preach to college men than to any congregation. His text for the closing sermon was taken from Deuteronomy 30:19. Mr. Harden said: "When preachers proclaim the truth of God, they want you to hear the message. Man must choose life or death. The wife and the mother would have you choose now the life which leads to glory. You young men should not go out of college unsaved; God may not call again. A choice brings us nearer our destiny of glory or despair. We are not living when we drag our manhood into sin. No man lives until he sees God. The sinful, fast boy is the poor dude of the devil. Not to know God is to fall into the bottomless hell. I beg you tonight to choose, and you must choose life or death—which?"

NEW SOCIAL EDITOR.

Owing to the fact that V. T. Anderson, social editor for The Tiger, was unable to return to College this fall, it was found necessary to choose some other good man for the position.

At a meeting of the representative committee from the senior class, and the athletic, and alumni associations, Mr. H. S. McKeown was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy.

"Bus" is also business manager of the Chronicle, and a live wire socially. He is a fair representative of his home town, Chester, where things are always on a boom. We gladly welcome "Bus" to The Tiger staff, and are sure that he will never fail to display his unquestioned ability, when it comes to picking up news items of interest to the social world.

LITERARY SOCIETY WORK EXPLAINED.

We think it well to utilize our space this week in explaining some phases of literary society work which may not be clear.

It has been customary for each of the societies to offer three medals each year, one for the best orator, one for the best debator, and one for the best declaimer. The entire membership is eligible for any one of these medals. A preliminary is held in each society in which all those desiring to enter have a chance to speak, and the two best contestants for each medal are selected to represent the society in what is termed "The annual celebration" of that society. These celebrations are held in chapel, and informal invitations are sent out by members of the society to their friends. At this celebration the best orator, the best debator, and the best declaimer are selected and these are presented with medals.

Some years ago the Trustees, in order to encourage literary society work among the upper classes, offered a medal to the best orator in each Senior class. This medal is known as the "Trustees Medal" and is contested for on Monday morning of each commencement. Each society selects one Senior to compete for this medal.

Last year Clemson put out three inter-collegiate debating teams, one went to Rock Hill and debated against Davidson, one met the College of Charleston in Charleston, and one met Wofford at Clemson. This inter-collegiate work will be taken up again this year and it is likely that debates can be arranged with these same colleges. This work is under the control of the inter-collegiate debating council which is composed of the head of the English department and one senior member from each society. The places on these teams are open to all literary society members and are selected by contests.

For some years Clemson has sent a representative from the societies here to the State oratorical contest. The honor of representing Clemson at this contest is open to any society member but usually the honor falls to some member of the upper classes.

Now, all these great opportunities ought to be a great inducement to become a society member. Probably in no phase of college life here has the common student so great a field in which to distinguish himself as in the literary society work, and again we plead with each student to ally himself with a literary society.

PALMETTO SOCIETY.

The society was called to order by the president; the exercises were then opened with prayer by the chaplain, Mr. C. W. Ward. The roll was called and the minutes of the last meeting read and approved.

The society then listened to an oration by Mr. C. S. Anderson. Mr. Anderson was well prepared and delivered his message well. He tried to make the society see that each individual was a shining light for somebody, or a tempest to destroy them. The debate was then opened with the query: "Resolved that hazing is beneficial to a newcomer's welfare." The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. F. O. Myers, J. L. McLaurin, and J. B. Dick, while the negative side was argued by Messrs. F. W. Dugar, J. M. Hutchins and H. J. Nimitz. Both sides brought out some splendid points. The judges Messrs. W. T. Patrick, P. N. Smith, and W. A. Pickens decided in favor of the affirmative. The extemporaneous speakers, Messrs. J. W. Haigler, M. T. Johnson, and J. W. Simpson, gave some very good advice as to what was the duty of the members to the society. The society was then entertained by Mr. W. D. Tallivast with a splendid declamation.

After the report of the various committees the society adjourned.

The society has some very bright prospects for this year. It seems that each member is interested and is determined to make it be one of the best years in the history of the society.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Clemson Agricultural Society held a short called meeting in the halls of the Palmetto Literary Society last Thursday night just after supper. The object of the meeting was the election of the Department Editors for the Agricultural Journal. The following new men were nominated by the Journal Staff and were unanimously elected by the society.

Entomology—W. A. Morrison.
Chemistry—D. G. O'Dell.
Botany—E. C. Young.
Veterinary Science—A. M. Dickson.
Horticultural—A. C. Dibble.
Soils—T. D. Padgett.
Animal Husbandry—E. D. Kyser.
Agronomy—F. C. Anderson.

Mr. J. B. Kendrick, Editor of the Agricultural Journal, announced that Prof. Harper had agreed to again offer a twenty dollar gold piece to the student writing the best article for The Journal during this session. He stated that Prof. Harper requested that the society select a committee of three members of the faculty from the Agricultural Division, and two students to draw up rules governing the contest. The following men were unanimously elected, Profs. Barre, Clark and Keitt and Cadets, J. B. Kendrick and H. S. McConnell. The society also authorized the president to appoint a committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws for the government of the society.

The first regular meeting of the society will be held in the Palmetto Literary Society Hall on next Tuesday night, October 5th, at 7:30 P. M., at which time Prof. Clark has been asked to make an address to the society. All agricultural seniors are invited to attend.

THE HAYNE LITERARY SOCIETY.

The society was called to order by the president, and was led in prayer by D. M. Simpson.

The program was then taken up. There was not a declamation nor an essay during the evening as the men were not prepared.

Mr. T. A. Friday delivered an excellent oration on "A Typical Hero." It showed excellent preparation. Mr. Friday gives indications of becoming a valuable man in society work.

Messrs. Hayden and Byrd upheld the affirmative; of the proposition "All students should join a literary society." Messrs. Hill and Bruce ably defended the negative, even tho they had the weaker side. Mr. Hill is a new man. He gives excellent promise of becoming a valuable man to the society. The debates showed excellent preparation. The judges, Messrs. McConnell, Padgett, and Dibble, decided in favor of the affirmative.

Mr. G. O. Hill was unanimously elected sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. J. P. Jeter, the president, in a short talk to the society, stressed the importance of being prepared when on duty. He said that all men that were unprepared would have to pay a fine.

Five men were appointed to visit the other societies on next Friday night.

A motion for adjournment was made, which was carried. The society was then dismissed by order of president.

CALHOUN SOCIETY.

The society was called to order by the president, Mr. R. B. Waters, and lead in prayer by the chaplain, Mr. L. O. Campbell. The roll was called, and the minutes of the last meeting read and adopted. The following new men were initiated into the society: Sullivan, D. H., Johnson, H. W., Bates, J. L., McInnis, J. A., Davis, W. M., Singleton, J. A., Bogard, W. P., Folk, M. H., and Haselden, J. D.

The regular exercises were then entered into. The declaimer, Mr. Campbell, had a very well prepared declamation. The orator, Mr. Carwile, delivered a splendid oration. The essayist, Mr. Morrison, did not know that he was on duty, but he made a very good short talk. Mr. Green, the reader, didn't know he was on duty and was unprepared, but came on as joker with Messrs. Wallace and McKeown. These men told some very humorous jokes, which were enjoyed by the entire society. The query: "Resolved, That Carnegie could do more good by building hospitals than libraries," was debated. The affirmative was defended by Messrs. Walker and Green, while the negative was upheld by Messrs. Sidal and Purdy. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative, while the house decided in favor of the negative. Mr. Leslie, the first extemporaneous speaker, made a very good talk on, "Supporting Football." Mr. Austin, the second extemporaneous speaker, made a very interesting talk on, "The value the new men could be to the society." The visitors, Messrs. Patrick and Stribling, each made short talks supporting the Chronicle.

The order of exercises for the next meeting was then read. There being no further business, the society adjourned.

CAROLINA SOCIETY.

The society was called to order by the president Mr. McMillan, and the minutes of the preceding meeting were read.

The order of exercises for the evening was then read, the program was opened with a declamation by Mr. Tenhet. The orator, Mr. McMillan, then gave a good oration on "College Spirit." A very well prepared essay was read by Mr. Moore. Mr. Fletcher the reader, then read "That Young Woman."

"Resolved, that state wide prohibition is more beneficial to South Carolina than local option," was the subject of the debate for the evening. Messrs. Kolb and Heiss upheld the affirmative, while Messrs. Brown and Barker defended the negative. The judges, Messrs. Laidlaw, Smith and McGougan, decided in favor of the affirmative. The reports were then rendered, after which the society adjourned.

"Virge" Howell: "Rat, how did you come out on your post mortem examinations?"

Rat-Harper: "I didn't stand 'em. I got in on a high-school surtifikit."

AS TO STYLE IN YOUNG MEN'S HATS

As you know every critical dresser knows there is no half way in style. A hat is either all wrong or all right. It is just that faculty for being right that puts the famous "STETSON" where it stands today. Fall "Stetsons" here, soft and stiff. Come see them or order by parcel post. We prepay.

Clemson Agricultural College

SOUTH CAROLINA'S SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING AND AGRICULTURE.

One of the largest and best equipped Agricultural and Mechanical College in the South. 1,544 Acres of land. Value of plant over $1,300,000. Over 120 teachers, officers and assistants. Enrollment, 819. Every county in South Carolina Represented. 13 Degree Courses. 4 Short Courses. 26 Departments of instruction. New and Modern buildings, equipment and sanitation. Over $100,000 expended in public service.

VALUE OF A TECHNICAL COLLEGE EDUCATION

A young man can make no better investment than in a technical education. Viewed merely as a matter of business, even if he has to borrow the money at interest, he will find that his increased earning capacity perhaps even the first year after graduation will be sufficient to repay the loan. It is a poor business policy to wait to earn the money necessary to pay for an education with an earning capacity only one-half or one-third that of an educated man. Every year of untrained, uneducated labor represents a direct financial loss. Every boy of ability and ambition whose parents are unable to pay for his education, should get some friend to indorse his note at the bank and begin preparation that will make for greater earning capacity and a fuller life. There is no time to lose. The world is looking for men of large ability and is willing to pay for them. Already there is a surplus of the one horsepower variety.

A college education is no longer a luxury of the rich, but more a necessity of the poor boy whose parents can give him little or nothing to start on. In earning capacity, it represents at the outset a capital of from $15,000 to $30,000, depending upon the energy, character and personality of the possessor, and the capital increases with every year of its efficient use.

There never was a time in the history of the world when expert knowledge was so much in demand, so indispensable to individual success, and so highly compensated. For the untrained await the positions of low wages, long hours and poverty.

Clemson College brings within the reach of every boy in South Carolina the benefits and possibilities of a technical education. The way is provided whereby, if he have the ambition and capacity for knowledge, he need not continue in ignorance. Here, at a cost lower than at any similar institution, can a young man obtain an education that will prepare him for self-sustaining, self-respecting citizenship.

ALUMNI NOTES.

M. G. Williams, '08, of Birmingham, is to marry Miss Wesste Lee Dial, of Laurens, S. C., on October 15, 1915. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will make their home in Bham, Ala.

G. R. Briggs, '15, is now on a big truck farm at Mitchellville, Md. "General" is remembered as the editor-in-chief of The Tiger last year, and as the fellow who used so many big words at the Agricultural Society banquet.

W. J. Hunter, editor-in-chief of the Chronicle last year, was a visitor at Saturday's game. Joe is with the Easley cotton mills, Easley, S. C.

S. M. Richards, '15, is "spying mike" on his father's farm near Liberty Hill. Although his nickname is "Water-mellon," he makes a specialty of raising sweet potatoes as a side line.

G. P. Hoffman, '15, is assistant in the horticultural division here. His work is principally on the experiment station.

N. G. Thomas, '15, is assistant in the Agronomy division.

"Pat" Smith, '15, is back with the Entomological division.

G. E. Berley, '15, is campus electrician this year, and it seems that even the light poles stand straighter than ever before.

J. E. Glover, '15, is assistant in the physics laboratory.

R. B. Stewart, '15, is connected with the electrical division.

E. P. DuVernet, who graduated last June, is secretary and treasurer of a cabbage plant concern at Orlando, Fla.

A. H. Ward, '14, is instructor in the Agronomy division. Audley took a special course at Wisconsin last year, and came back to Clemson to take Prof. Lowry's place. Prof. Lowry has a leave of absence from the college for one year.

J. A. Simpson, and C. L. Vaughn, both of class of '15, are working for the Agricultural division.

P. H. Senn, '15, is with the Extension division, under Mr. W. W. Long, state demonstration agent.

G. L. Harris, '15, is farming near South Union in Oconee county.

E. O. McMahan, '15, is teaching school at Bounty Land, near Seneca, S. C.

The woods around these parts were so full of alumni Saturday afternoon that you might have easily mistaken the occasion for home-coming week.

BOYS, TAKE NOTICE.

Season tickets to all athletic games now only $2.50.

If 650 or more season tickets are sold, the Auburn game at Anderson will be put on free to the holders of these tickets.

The citadel game is almost sure to be played on the campus too.

If you haven't bought one of these tickets, don't fail to do so right away. No further reduction will be made.

Up to date the Athletic Association has sold 375 season tickets.

The total amount of money received from ticket sales was $1,495.20.

This is more than was taken in on all campus games last session.

The amount paid Davidson for the game was $255.34.

Prof. Rouse: "Mr. McKeown, what is the unit in the animal body?"

Senior McKeown: "The stomach." (His mind had merely run down.)

Dr. Barnette: "Mr. Haigler, name the different kinds of epithelial cells." "Jack" (waking up): "don't know 'em, Oh! 'yessir! the sixth one is oil-shaped."

If you don't believe Frank Anderson sleeps with his "blade" and talks in his sleep, ask Tate or Odom about it.

EXAM LIST FOR THE FACULTY

Craving pardon for bringing back such a terrible subject as examinations, we would that we might depart from the usual method of speaking thereof and say a few words along the line of an editorial that appeared in the Columbia Spectator recently. A list of five questions was asked of the members of the faculty. Each professor was instructed to do any seven of the five questions asked and to hire a cop to watch while the examination was in progress. The questions follow:

1. Just about what percent do you know of the exam you gave to your class?

2. Write for an hour on what the average student things of you. Be specific.

3. Use your imagination and write 500 words on either of the following subjects: "Student Life During Examinations" or "Dante's Inferno."

4. Take the exam books of your section and read them word for word. Don't hurry, because your students may not survive the shock.

5. Don't tolerate student opinions. Professional dignity is a serious matter. If you have any lectures to attend or other weighty matters, it is always safe to base your mark on any one question.

The editor added that he would be glad to send a marked copy to any professor who would be benefited. He should have said, "who should need its possible benefits." We have been writing copiously in an effort to convince students of the relative importance of the many interests about the University. Here are five thoughts directed toward those faculty members who may have slipped into instructional ruts. If the shoe fits, accept our guarantee and wear it. You will be getting a bargain.
